

Activities Permission Policy

Somers Land Trust (SLT) posts the properties it owns or manages with a list of activities allowed and unrestricted as well as those that are prohibited or that require explicit written permission from SLT. This policy governs those activities that require such permission.

Examples of activities requiring written permission of SLT include, but are not limited to:

- Cutting or clearing vegetation
- Removal of plant or other material
- Use of any sort of wheeled conveyance or boat
- Fires, camping, or any sort of organized program
- Hunting and fishing activities are controlled according to management plans and are subject to additional rules and procedures as well as requiring written permission.
- Any other activities the board may add to the list as the need arises

Anyone seeking permission for an activity requiring written permission must request it in writing either by letter or email detailing:

1. The nature of the activity
2. The location of the activity
3. The dates, times, or period of the activity

SLT will consider the request and if approved, respond by letter or email notifying the requesting party. The letter or email granting permission must be carried at all times by the permittee when engaging in the subject activity on SLT owned or managed land. Such permits are non-transferable.

A list of such permissions granted, to whom, by whom and when granted will be maintained by the secretary of the Somers Land Trust.

Somers Land Trust retains the right to revoke such permissions at any time and for any reason.
